LAKE GREY

Lake Grey Porcelain Paving is a popular choice for outdoor flooring because of its durability and attractive appearance. The grey paving tile is made from a type of porcelain ceramic that is fired at high temperatures to create a hard, dense material that can withstand heavy foot traffic and exposure to the elements. The colour of Lake Grey is a unique blend of light and dark grey shades with a subtle hint of blue, which makes it a perfect option for outdoor spaces.

One of the biggest advantages of porcelain paving is its resistance to staining and fading. Unlike natural stone, porcelain tiles are non-porous, which means that they do not absorb liquids or stains, making them very easy to clean and maintain. Additionally, porcelain is resistant to fading, so the colour of the tiles will remain vibrant and consistent over time, even when exposed to sunlight and other weather conditions.

Black Limestone is a popular choice particularly in heavily planted gardens as the dark slabs offer a contrast to floral areas and turf with its natural cleft surface and hand chiselled edges, Black Limestone paving slabs are perfect for areas where slate is prevalent and where a contrasting colour is required from light to dark. This Natural Limestone paving fades in colour over a time, so to ensure that it retains its colour we recommend sealing the paving or setts with colour enhancers as soon as possible after installation.
